FOREWORD

The preparation of the Statistical Report of the Ministry of Information, Culture, Arts and Sports for 2015 has been made possible following valuable contributions made by various stakeholders. In this regard, the Ministry appreciates the valuable contribution made by the National Bureau of Statistics (NBS) through the Tanzania Statistical Master Plan (TSMP) for funding the preparation of the report. It also appreciates the valuable contributions made by experts from the National Bureau of Statistics in preparing the report and particularly in ensuring that the report is consistent with the Statistical Report Writing Guidelines. Appreciations should also go to experts of the Ministry (including institutions) who worked tirelessly to ensure that the report is produced with the required standards.

The successful completion of this report was also facilitated by the enabling environment that was accorded to the experts who participated in the exercise. In this regard, I would like to gratefully acknowledge the good hospitality granted by the management and the entire team of the Bagamoyo Arts and cultural Institute (TaSUBa) to the team of experts during the preparation of the report in Bagamoyo. Since the preparation of similar report is an ongoing exercise, it is the expectation of the Ministry that key stakeholders who have supported the preparation of this report will continue to grant similar support.

Prof. Elisante Ole Gabriel
PERMANENT SECRETARY

CHAPTER ONE

1.0 INTRODUCTION

According to the Instrument for its establishment, the Ministry of Information, Culture, Arts and Sports is charged with the responsibility of formulating and overseeing the implementation of the policies on information, culture, arts and sports. The instrument also mandates the Ministry to coordinate and regulate the mass media, film and theatrical performance and promote the arts, sports and culture in the country. In executing these mandates, the Ministry is required to develop strategies and plans and monitor their implementation. Statistical information is among the key aspects for developing good strategies and plans as well as assessing the extent of their implementation. As a matter of fact, the available data across sectors of the Ministry and its institutions have not been well organized and documented. This has led to an inconsistency in reporting sector achievements that are supported by facts and figures available at ministerial and institutions level.

Given this background, it is critical to prepare an annual statistical report that will, among others, respond to the Ministry and stakeholders needs regarding the performance of the ministry over time. This report highlights the available statistical information for the sectors of the Ministry (Information, Culture, Arts and Sports). It also highlights statistical gaps that exist within the sectors and provides recommendations to fill the gaps.

This first report starts with a few areas for which data are available. This work will be improved overtime and eventually, the Ministry will possess refined statistics for specific and general uses.

CHAPTER TWO

2.0 METHODOLOGY

This chapter covers the scope or coverage of the report, data sources, data quality, sustainability and data periodicity. Further, it describes the data collection procedures and data analysis techniques.

2.1 Data Sources

Data refer to the kinds of information used or obtained for a specific reason. Sources of data are categorized into primary and secondary data. Primary data sources are those whereby information is obtained from the participant in a particular field and directly from respondents whereas secondary data sources are those whereby information has already being collected by someone else in the form of documentation. This document uses both primary and secondary data from different sources within the Ministry. However, most data used in this report are secondary.

In addition to the established routine administrative system, the Ministry collects data through published books, registers and website, budget speeches and Ministry reports. Some data are collected quarterly and others annually but the Ministry is in the process of strengthening the data collection system so as to enable data collection to be done monthly and weekly.

2.2 Data Processing

Data processing and analysis includes editing, coding, classification, tabulation and presentation of collected data. It also involves examining what has been collected in survey or experiment and making deductions and inferences. The analysis process was done after the data collection exercise from different sources was completed.

Data cleaning, compilation and analysis were done using statistical packages including Excel.

2.3 Scope and Coverage

The data used in the compilation of this report are supposed to cover all regions of Tanzania Mainland, focusing on information, culture, arts and sports sectors. However, some data cover only some regions due to lack of information from other regions.

2.4 Data Quality

Data used in this report are from reliable sources such as Baraza la Sanaa la Taifa (BASATA), Malya Sports College, Tanzania Film Board, newspapers register, radio and television register and sports register (clubs, associations and academies). Data were properly processed and analyzed so that they may help the Ministry to make better decisions.

2.5 Data Sustainability

Some of data presented in this report are sustainable in the sense that will continue to be updated every year as they are routine. These include data on registered newspapers, radio and television stations, media accreditation cards issued, warned and burned newspapers.

Other data include registered individual artists and art groups, participation of cultural groups at Bagamoyo arts festivals, students enrolled and graduated at TaSUBa, foreign artists performing in Tanzania and local artists performing outside the country, local and international trophies offered to local artists, film permits issued, illegal films products confiscated in the market, film and music products with special stamps, banned films, local and international film awards won by local artists. Students enrolled and graduated at Malya Sports College, registered sports clubs, associations and academies, sports infrastructure, budget trends, and data on human resources are also data found in this report.

2.6 Periodicity

The data cover the period of five years i.e. 2010 to December 2015. However, some data are presented by calendar year and others by financial year. The period covered by the data is specified in each table.

CHAPTER THREE

3.0 SECTORAL STATISTICS

This section presents sectors' statistics conclusions and recommendations based on selected statistical data available at the Ministry. The focus is on sectors of Information, Culture, Arts and Sports. The analysis also takes on board data available at institutions under respective sectors.

However, the presentation in this chapter is not comprehensive as it does not utilize all data available at sector level but only data available during preparation of this report. The conclusion and recommendations made suggest the inclusion of other important data in the upcoming reports.

3.1 Information Sector Statistics

Access to information is a basic human right as defined in Article 18 of the Constitution of the United Republic of Tanzania, and Universal Declaration of Human Rights (1948). The sector covers media services including television, radio, newspapers, journals, social media, pictures, films, cartoons and billboards.

Regarding this Statistical Report, 2015, it covers a number of registered newspapers, radio and television stations, journalist media accreditation cards (press card), newspapers/journals banned and warned in Tanzania Mainland due to misconduct.

3.1.1 Registered Television Stations

Apart from being a means of communication, the global media sector of which television is a major part employ millions of skilled workers across the world and many people in Tanzania. In addition, the success of public and commercial television as an advertising medium generates revenue which can be reinvested in even more great programming for viewers and other sectors of the economy.

The statistics on registered television stations indicate that, by December, 2015, there were 26 registered television stations in Tanzania Mainland.

Table 3.1: Public and Local Government Owned Registered Television Stations, by Location and Coverage, Tanzania Mainland, 2015

4.	Sumbawanga Town Council Television	Rukwa	Sumbawanga	District
5.	Iringa Municipal Council Television	Iringa	Iringa	District

Source: TCRA, 2015

Table 3.1 reveals that, out of five Public and Local Government owned registered television stations only TBC₁ had national coverage. Other four television stations were authorized to cover their respective districts only. This is either because of the purpose for which television stations were established or lack of funds to provide broadcasting services at national level.

Table 3.2 shows that, out of 26 Regions in Tanzania Mainland, only two regions have non-commercially owned television stations. These regions are Dar es Salaam with 4 television stations and Morogoro with 2 television stations. This implies that 66.7 percent of all non-commercially owned television stations are located in Dar es Salaam while 33.3 percent are in Morogoro.

Table 3.3 indicates that, there are 15 commercially owned television stations located in four regions countrywide. Out of these 12 stations are found in Dar es Salaam Region, one in Morogoro Region, one in Tabora Region and one in Mwanza Region. Therefore, Dar es Salaam has the largest number (80.0 percent) of commercially owned television stations.

3.1.2 Registered Radio Stations

Radio is important since it enables people who cannot access television and cannot read newspapers to get news and trends. Radio also provides portable entertainment and information to many people. Therefore, radio is very important in both developing and developed countries for information provision. It is able to function where television stations are not accessible. Radio is more easily accessed than newspapers particularly in rural areas. The information that is given over the radio can be broadcasted to a large number of listeners and provide them with immediate information.

The statistics indicate that, by December, 2015, Tanzania Mainland had 125 registered radio stations. Out of these, 9 radio stations are owned by public and local Government, 5 radio stations are owned by communities, 47 are non-commercial radio stations and 64 are commercial radio stations.

Out of the 9 public and local government owned radio stations, only 2 stations (TBC Taifa and TBC FM) are authorized to broadcast national wide while the remaining 7 stations are authorized to broadcast at district level.

Table 3.7 shows that there are 64 commercially owned registered radio stations out of which 5 stations (7.8 percent) broadcast national wide, 13 stations (20.3 percent) broadcast regional wide and 46 radio stations (71.9 percent) broadcast at district level.

Table 3.8 and Figure 3.1 indicate that the registration of radio stations has been fluctuating each year. In 2005, 3 radio stations were registered, 12 were registered in 2006 but in 2007 only 1 station was registered. The largest number of radio stations was registered in 2015 when 22 (23.4 percent) such stations were registered. The period from 2010 to 2012 a substantial number (38; 40.4 percent) of radio stations was registered. During the 2005 to 2015 period, 94 radio stations were registered.

In 2005 and 2006 only 1 television station was registered in each year. In 2007 and 2008 no television station was registered while in 2009 and 2010 only 1 television station was registered in each year. In 2011, 2012 and 2013 no television station was registered while in 2014, 3 television stations were registered. In 2015 only 1 television station was registered was a decrease of 66.7 percent compared to the year 2014. In total, 8 television stations were registered during the 2005 to 2015 period.

These data prove that radio stations are widely spread in Tanzania Mainland compared to television stations, and hence more people receive information via radio broadcasts compared to television broadcasts particularly in rural areas.

3.1.3 Press Cards Issued

Press cards grant special privileges to journalists. These passes bear a recognized legal status, while others are identification criteria for practicing journalists in Tanzania. In Tanzania, press cards are offered to local and foreign journalists on application and after meeting required criteria.

The local press cards issued increased by 29.3 percent from 426 in year 2010 to 551 in the year 2015. In 2010 and 2015 the number of press cards issued increased significantly due to general elections in Tanzania Mainland and Zanzibar. Although the number of press cards issued in 2013 was also large (500), the trend shows that, in every general election held in Tanzania, the number of press cards issued increased significantly. However, in the other years, the trends were relatively the same.

3.1.4 Registered Newspapers

Print and electronic media are dominant means of disseminating information in the modern world. In this age of information, a newspaper is the most powerful tool for expressing ideas and exchanging information.

Table 3.10 indicates that the number of newspapers registered in 2010 was 8 while in 2011 it was 41. During 2014, the number of registered newspapers was 23 which was a decrease of 36.1 percent compared to the number of newspapers registered in 2013. In 2015, 39 newspapers were registered which was an increase of 69.6 percent compared to newspapers registered in 2014. The increased number of registered newspapers in 2015 was due to the general election held in October, 2015.

3.1.5 Registered Swahili and English Newspapers

Table 3.11 indicates that in the 2010 to 2015 period more Swahili newspapers were registered compared to English newspapers. The average percentage of registered Swahili newspapers over the period of 2010 to 2015 was 63.6 percent while that of registered English newspapers was 36.4 percent. Most people in Tanzania speak Kiswahili as their first language and therefore, the demand for Swahili newspapers is more than that of English newspapers.

3.1.6 Banned Registered Newspapers

These are newspapers whose operations have been stopped by the Government due to unethical conduct. This indicator is important as some people may need to know the number of newspapers that are banned in a particular year.

Table 3.11 shows that, from 2010 to 2015 only 4 newspapers were banned following violation of the existing laws and regulations. However, none of registered newspapers was banned in three out of six years of operation meaning that, in those three years the media practitioners (owner, editor and journalist) complied with the existing laws, rules and regulations governing the sector.

3.1.7 Warned Registered Newspapers

The findings presented in Table 3.13 indicate that 12 registered newspapers and journals were warned during the 2010-2015 period. The table shows that year 2011 recorded the largest number of registered newspapers which were warned, whereby 4 (33.3 percent) newspapers were notified and cautioned. The comparison between the number of newspapers registered and the number of newspapers warned or banned shows that most owners, editors and journalists abide by the existing policies, laws and regulations of the country.

3.2 Cultural Statistics

Culture is widely defined as a set of distinctive spiritual, material, intellectual and emotional features of society or social group. It encompasses art and literature, lifestyles, ways of living together, value systems, traditions and beliefs (UNESCO, 2012). The Cultural Sector in Tanzania is socially and economically important as it contributes significantly to national development, for instance, through international trade of cultural products globally. It also generates employment; alleviate poverty, preserves cultural heritage and tourism activities.

In Tanzania, cultural responsibilities are coordinated by several institutions which include National Kiswahili Council (BAKITA), Bagamoyo College of Arts (TaSUBa), and National Art Council (BASATA), Tanzania Film Board, Institute of Kiswahili Research (TUKI) and others.

The cultural statistics reported in this section cover cultural heritage, languages of Tanzania and training institutions offering Kiswahili language courses during the five years reference period.

3.2.1 Languages Spoken in Tanzania

According to the research done at UDSM in 2013, Tanzania has a total of 150 languages spoken by about 31.6 million people.

Table 3.14: Languages Spoken by Large and Small Number of People, Tanzania Mainland, 2013

Table 3.14 highlights languages spoken by 10 largest and smallest groups of people in Tanzania Mainland.

Sukuma is a language spoken by the largest number of people (5,195,504). It is followed by Swahili language (2,379,294), Kiha (1,229,415), Gogo (1,023,970), Nyamwezi (959,832), Haya (833,214) and Makonde (805,299).

On the other hand, languages spoken by a few people include Wanda (182), Kiga (662), Kikuyu (938) and Bwali (1,070). Wanda is the least spoken language. This language is, therefore, at the risk of disappearing. UNESCO defines a language to be at risk of disappearing when its speakers cease to use it, use it in fewer and fewer domains, use fewer of its registers and speaking styles, and/or stop passing it on to the next generation. In this regard, Wanda and Kikuyu languages are at the risk of disappearing in Tanzania. Appendix I shows different languages and the number of persons who speak them.

3.2.2 Cultural Heritage Resources

Cultural heritage includes language, folklore, ethnographical objects, traditional natural environment and intangible culture such as group legacy.

Tangible cultural heritage assets include old constructions such as roads, buildings, graveyards, archaeological sites, rock paintings, old settlements, museums and immemorial sites (Kamamba, 2003).

Tanzania has 128 legally protected cultural areas and these are gazetted. However, there are 19 existing cultural heritages in Tanzania. Further, among 19 cultural heritages, four are inscribed on the world heritage lists, including Kondoa Rock Art Site, Kilwa Kisiwani Ruins, Songo Mnara Ruins and the Olduvai Gorge in Arusha (Kamamba 2014). Table 3.15 presents the number of cultural heritages in Tanzania Mainland by region.

3.2.3 Training Institutions and Colleges

According to NECTA (2014), there are more than five hundred (500) registered colleges and universities in Tanzania Mainland. However, only 98 institutions offer Swahili courses countrywide.

Bachelor and Masters Degree, and PhD in Swahili are offered in 9 (nine) training institutions, (9.3 percent). On the other hand, Certificates and Diplomas are offered in 88 training institutions, equivalent to 90.7 percent of all 97 training institutions offering Kiswahili courses in Tanzania Mainland.

3.3 Arts Statistics

In Tanzania, “Arts” issues are coordinated by the Department of Arts Development. The department comprises two sections namely Coordinating Artist Industry and Rights and Development of Artist. All Arts activities are supervised by agencies set by the government to implement legislative mandates, regulations and procedures. Such agencies include the Bagamoyo Institute of Arts and Culture (TaSUBa), Tanzania Film Board (TFB) and the National Arts Council (BASATA).

Arts statistics cover the following: number of art groups and people who participated at Bagamoyo Arts and Cultural Festival, students enrolled and graduated at TaSUBa, number of artists and other practitioners in films, crafts, performing arts and music, number of foreign artists and number of local artists performing outside the country. It also, includes the number of local and international awards won by local artists.

3.3.1 Participation of Cultural Groups at Bagamoyo Arts and Cultural Festival

Table 3.17 shows that more local cultural groups participated in the Bagamoyo Arts and Cultural Festival since 2010 than foreign cultural groups. The participation of local cultural groups increased by 20.0 percent from 40 groups in 2012 to 48 groups in 2015. This is because local groups have an advantage over foreign groups because the festival takes place in Tanzania. The participation of foreign culture groups ranges from 4 to 5 groups per year.

3.3.2 Diploma Students Enrolled and Graduated at TaSUBa

Table 3.18 reveals that the number of male students enrolled each year is more than that of female students. Again, the table shows that the number of male students enrolled decreased by 38.9 percent from 54 students in 2014 to 33 students in 2015. On the other hand, the number of female students increased by 55.6 percent from 9 students in 2014 to 14 students in 2015.

Table 3.19 shows the number of diploma male students who graduated from TaSUBa were higher than that of females. The table also reveals that the number of male students who graduated increased by 60.9 percent from 23 students in 2014 to 37 students in 2015. The number of female students who graduated increased from 12 students in 2014 to 23 students in 2015 (91.7% increase).

3.3.3 Registered Art Groups in Tanzania

Table 3.20 presents the distribution of performing art and music groups. The table shows that Dar es Salaam Region has 1,893 registered art and music groups. Other regions with more than 100 art and music groups are Morogoro (141), Tanga (118), Pwani (117), Dodoma (113) and Arusha (103). The reasons why Dar es Salaam has the largest number of registered art and music groups include its having the largest population, most improved arts infrastructure, easiest market access, and presence of many art promotion companies, hence attracting a lot of people in the field.

On the other hand, the table shows that 6 regions with less than 50 registered art and music groups are Geita (1), Rukwa (6), Njombe (16), Mara (35), Kilimanjaro (42) and Kigoma (48). The small number of registered art and music groups in these regions may be due to poor infrastructure systems especially absence of promotion companies.

3.3.5 Licensed Cultural Events

Table 3.22 presents the number of licensed cultural events recorded from 2010/2011 to 2014/2015. Since the adoption of the Art Policy in 1997, the number of registered events has increased. The Policy enabled the private sector to invest in art while the National Arts Council (BASATA) was mandated to coordinate and license cultural events. The conducive environment created by the Government for cultural events to prosper resulted into their increase. However, the number of licensed cultural events decreased by 31.4 percent from 35 events in 2013/14 to 24 events in 2014/15. Figure 3.4 shows the number of cultural events over the period 2010/11 to 2014/15.

3.3.6 Foreign Artist Performed in Tanzania

Table 3.23 shows the number of foreign artists who performed in Tanzania from 2010 to 2015. Observation on the table shows that the number of foreign artists decreased from 39 in 2013 to 19 in 2015 (a 51.3 percent decrease). Years 2010 and 2015 showed a small number of foreign artists (21 and 19 artists respectively). These small numbers are attributed to general elections which were held in Tanzania and affected foreign visits.

3.3.7 Number of Local Artists Who Performed Outside the Country

The Numbers of Tanzanian artists who performed outside the country (Table 3.24) are under estimated. This is because in most cases, local artists refuse to seek permission from BASATA (as the law requires them to) when they go to perform at International level. In 2014 and 2015, there was a little achievement after BASATA sensitized artists to apply for permits as a prerequisite to perform outside the country.

3.3.8 Local and International Awards (Trophies) Offered to Local Artists

Table 3.25 reveals that local awards decreased from 48 in 2013/14 to 46 awards in 2014/15 (a decrease of 4.2 percent). On the other hand, international awards increased from 6 in 2013/14 to 8 awards in 2014/15 (an increase of 33.3 percent).

Awards (Trophies) won by artists, increased dramatically in 2013/14. This is because from 2013/14 BASATA licensed a new promoter to award local artists in different categories and hence increased the number of local awards to be won by artists. Similarly, international awards to local artists increased due to growing popularity among local artists to compete in international award events. However, despite the growing number of awards won by local artists, still there is a challenge of few award nights both local and international. Some famous awards such as Korea Music Awards organized in South Africa witnessed a fall in the number of participants. In the country, out of 3 well known award nights, 2 of them are owned by BASATA.

3.4.6 Sports Infrastructure in Tanzania

The Tanzania Sports Development Policy encourages the public to invest in sports stadiums through education institutions, political organizations, district regional authorities, sports federations, central government and other sports development partners and stakeholders.

Sports infrastructure in Tanzania can be categorized into two; those made by communities for their own leisure and sporting activities. On the other hand, some sports infrastructures are constructed specially for purposes at regional, national and international level usage. The following are some community grounds that are available in Tanzania and mainly for community services.

- Golf grounds in Dar es Salaam (Gymkhana and Lugalo), Arusha and Mwanza;
- Tennis courts, in Dar es Salaam (Gymkhana, Post Kijitonyama) UDSM, Arusha, Moshi and Mwanza;
- Rugby grounds in Arusha;
- Cricket grounds in Dar es Salaam (Upanga, UDSM) Morogoro and Tanga;
- Swimming pools in Dar es Salaam (UDSM, IST, HOPAC).

Table 3.38 shows some stadia considered to have the capacity to host some national or regional sports events. Tanzania has 34 such stadia. The table also indicates that Tanzania National Stadium is the largest football stadium and can accommodate up to 60,000 spectators. This is the only stadium with a 5 star rating, while 14 stadia have a 1 star rating.

3.7 Conclusion and Recommendations

The information which is contained in this report focused only on the existing secondary data. They do not reveal all important data under the four sectors. As this being a start, it calls for more work to be undertaken. There is a need of having a detailed database for each section, department, and institution and at the Ministry level which will provide reliable and valid data.

The following are gaps that need further data collection;

- i. Social media (blogs), media owners (newspaper, television and radio) and bloggers.
- ii. Intangible cultural heritage products, tangible cultural heritage products, cultural tourists, traditional festival events, national archives, libraries and books related to cultural issues.
- iii. Video exhibition centers (VEC) well known as “Vibanda umiza” and video libraries.
- iv. Participation in games, sports and physical activity
- v. Sports infrastructures e.g cricket grounds, tennis courts students enrolled and graduated from Malya Sports College by field of study.
